

Semaphore Risk

Semaphore Risk surveys map risk and risk perception across the enterprise and provide powerful insights on where risk may be lurking, as well as its relative impact and likelihood. These are custom engagements that provide decision makers with their current risk landscape and ongoing benchmarking and risk signaling over time.

Semaphore Risk

Risk Mapping

Identification of key risk domains, their likelihood and impact and interconnections across the enterprise.

Interconnections

Risk rarely lives in isolation and morphs depending on contributing factors and relationships. Semaphore surveys are uniquely tailored to identify these relationships.

Decision Support

Custom engagements designed to frame risk-aware decisions, whether they are for projects, new investments or for existing operations around the world.

Time Series Analysis

Once a baseline risk map is established, time-series analysis can be carried out to monitor variations from the original baseline.
